

Cookie Policy

About cookies

CoJo Housing makes use of cookies. We place cookies to enhance the user comfort and make our website as interesting and useful as possible to you. One of the purposes of our cookies is to make sure our website works optimally and prevents us from showing you information that you have already seen before. We emphasize that the use of cookies is safe. It is impossible to obtain personal information, such as telephone numbers or email addresses via our cookies. Our cookies can therefore not be used for email or telemarketing actions.

CoJo Housing makes use of the following cookies:

1. Functional cookies; Cookies that make sure that our website works properly
2. Analytics; Cookies that enable us to measure the usage of our website
3. Social media; Cookies used to share the website's content on social media or any related website
4. Recommendations; Cookies used to make more directed recommendations for you as a user
5. Other; Other cookies that cannot be placed in one of the categories mentioned above

By using the CoJo Housing website, you consent to the use of cookies in accordance with this cookie policy. If you do not agree to our use of cookies, you should set your browser settings accordingly, or not use the CoJo Housing platform.

However, be aware that disabling the cookies used for our platform, may impact your user experience of the CoJo Housing platform.